PROTECT YOURSELF FROM THE HEAT

You can take a number of precautions to prevent heat exhaustion and other heat-related illnesses. When temperatures climb, remember to:

- Wear loosefitting, lightweight clothing. Wearing excess clothing or clothing that fits tightly won't allow your body to cool properly.
- Protect against sunburn. Sunburn affects your body's ability to cool itself, so protect yourself outdoors with a wide-brimmed hat and sunglasses and use a broad-spectrum sunscreen with an SPF of at least 15. Apply sunscreen generously, and reapply every two hours — or more often if you're swimming or sweating.
- Drink plenty of fluids. Staying hydrated will help your body sweat and maintain a normal body temperature.
- Take extra precautions with certain medications. Be on the lookout for heat-related problems if you take medications that can affect your body's ability to stay hydrated and dissipate heat.

15th Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year "B" –
Our Call to a Mission of Peace, Justice and Love

After reading the Gospel story of the sending of the twelve apostles, I remembered a story a friend sent to me via Whatsapp. It is the story of Ruth, who went to her mail box and there was only one letter. She picked it up and looked at it before opening, but then she looked at the envelope again. There was no stamp, no postmark, only her name and address. She read the letter:

Dear Ruth: I'm going to be in your neighborhood Saturday afternoon and I'd like to stop by for a visit.

*Love Always,
Jesus*

Her hands were shaking as she placed the letter on the table. 'Why would the Lord want to visit me? I'm nobody special. I don't have anything to offer...' With that thought, Ruth remembered her empty kitchen cabinets. 'Oh my goodness, I really don't have anything to offer. I'll have to run down to the store and buy something for dinner.'

She reached for her purse and counted out its contents - Five dollars and forty cents. Well, I can get some bread and cold cuts, at least... She threw on her coat and hurried out the door. A loaf of French bread, a half-pound of sliced Turkey, and a carton of milk..., leaving Ruth with grand total twelve cents to last her until Monday...

Nonetheless, she felt good as she headed home, her meager offerings tucked under her arm. 'Hey lady, can you help us, lady?' Ruth had been so absorbed in her dinner plans, she hadn't even noticed two figures huddled in the alleyway. A man and a woman, both of them dressed in little more than rags.

'Look lady, I ain't got a job, you know, and my wife and I have been living out here on the street, and, well, now it's getting cold and we're getting kind'a hungry and, well, if you could help us. Lady, we'd really appreciate it.' Ruth looked at them both. They were dirty, they smelled bad and frankly, she was certain that they could get some kind of work if they really wanted to...

'Sir, I'd like to help you, but I'm a poor woman myself. All I have is a few cold cuts and some bread, and I'm having an important guest for dinner tonight and I was planning on serving that to Him.' 'Yeah, well, okay lady, I understand. Thanks anyway.' The man put his arm around the woman's shoulders, turned and headed back into the alley.

As she watched them leave, Ruth felt a familiar twinge in her heart. 'Sir, wait!' The couple stopped and turned as she ran down the alley after them. 'Look, why don't you take this food. I'll figure out something else to serve my guest.' She handed the man her grocery bag.

'Thank you lady. Thank you very much!' 'Yes, thank you!' It was the man's wife, and Ruth could see now that she was shivering 'You know, I've got another coat at home. Here, why don't you take this one.' Ruth unbuttoned her jacket and slipped it over the woman's shoulders. Then smiling, she turned and walked back to the streetwithout her coat and with nothing to serve her guest. 'Thank you lady! Thank you very much!'

Ruth was chilled by the time she reached her front door, and worried too. The Lord was coming to visit and she didn't have anything to offer Him. She fumbled through her purse for the door key. But as she did, she noticed another envelope in her mailbox. 'That's odd. The mailman doesn't usually come twice in one day.'

Dear Ruth: It was so good to see you again. Thank you for the lovely meal. And thank you, too, for the beautiful coat.

*Love Always,
Jesus*

In Ruth we see what it means today to be a disciple of Jesus.

In every generation, time and place, God continues to call people of goodwill as Jesus called the twelve apostles about 2000 years ago to mission ad gentes – mission to the nations. The same authority that was given to the prophets and apostles has also been given to us to spread the love of God in the world. More than at any point in time, advancement in the means of communication has made it even more possible for us to share the goodness of God in our lives with others. Paul, realizing this incomprehensible wisdom of God, goes on to say in the second reading "In all wisdom and insight, He has made known to us the mystery of His will in accord with His favor that He set forth in Him as a plan for the fullness of times, to sum up all things in Christ, in Heaven and on Earth."

St. Augustine goes on to say, "Lord you have made us for yourself; our hearts are restless until it rests in you," God did not create the world in vain. Human beings are not an accident of an evolutionary process and God has not abandoned the world. Thanks to modern science, there is now an understanding that even the planetary system is not a scattered lot. The stars and the planets are arranged to serve a purpose. And if the moon and the stars are serving a purpose, how greater is the mission of human beings on earth.

We are called to become co-creators with God. The beauty of God's plan is that, unlike human projects that are exclusive, God's plan is inclusive and all are welcome. The many people we see in the world with their problems and baggages are all searching for meaning in life. Yet, in the midst of the problems of poverty, sickness, broken hearts and unfulfilled promises, God continues to call us to help those in need.

Human beings are the beauty of creation. Even when worldly forces oppose us as Amos was opposed, we should never lose sight of the fact that we are in this world to build the kingdom of God, which, put in another way is to contribute to the civilization of love. This is the reign of peace, justice and truth. It is the power of love and not the love of power that should govern our world, hence the need for us to light one candle rather than curse darkness.

Like the prophet, Amos; the apostle, Paul; the missionaries of all ages, etc., the predestined plan of God is for us to freely choose to do the will of God in good times and in bad. Hence, building the kingdom of peace and righteousness remains the universal project of all the baptized.

Did You Know?

Parents of young children have likely heard the phrase “boys will be boys” many times — usually to excuse so-called “typical boy” behaviors. But this rationalization can extend dangerously through adulthood, to excuse sexual assault and harassment. The messages received by young children have lasting effects. Boys hear that they need to hide their emotions, so if they are abused, they’re less likely to come forward. Girls hear that boys can be rough or rude, and learn to tolerate rather than push back. Eliminating this gender divide early may help combat sexual abuse and assault.

SACRAMENT OF FIRST COMMUNION

First Communion opens the door of our understanding of the mystery of Jesus in our lives. We receive First Communion at a time in our lives when we really start to know the difference between right and wrong. We receive First Communion at a time in our lives when we are ready to approach the adults' table at the party, the Eucharistic Banquet. We receive First Communion because we have come to learn that the Bread and the Wine have become the Body and Blood of Jesus.

We have come to know that when we eat of His Flesh and drink of His Blood that we become more like Him every time we do it. We have come to know that this is our period of growing into having a life of honor and respect among the faithful who believe in Him. (St. Joseph Basilica)

I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

LLAMADOS POR DIOS

Las lecturas de hoy nos invitan a escuchar dos llamados. El primero es el llamado del Señor al profeta Amós, el “pastor y cultivador de higos” (Amós 7:14). El segundo es el llamado del Señor Jesús a los Doce, a quienes envió “de dos en dos” (Marcos 6:7). Estas personas fieles respondieron al llamado, profetizaron y predicaron a aquellos a quienes habían sido enviados. En el Bautismo, cada uno de nosotros recibió un llamado. La segunda lectura nos invita a reflexionar sobre ese llamado ya que se nos recuerda que hemos sido elegidos en Cristo y que, por amor, Dios “nos eligió... para que fuéramos sus hijos” (Efesios 1:5). Por ser hijos adoptivos de Dios se nos llama a llevar la presencia de Cristo a nuestro matrimonio, familiares, escuelas y sitios de trabajo. Sintámonos inspirados a decir “sí” hoy al llamado que escuchamos una vez más en la palabra viva de Dios.

¿Sabía Usted?

Los padres de niños pequeños suelen repetir la frase de que “los varones son varones” para justificar ciertas conductas masculinas. Pero este entendimiento podría ser un modelo peligroso para la etapa adulta, ya que esos argumentos podrían justificar el abuso sexual y la violación. Recuerden que los mensajes que les transmitimos a los hijos tienen un efecto duradero. Además, cuando los niños aprenden que los “varones” no deben mostrar sus emociones, esto podría ser peligroso en caso de un abuso sexual, ya que ellos no querían contar lo sucedido. Y cuando las niñas escuchan que los varones tienen que ser duros y poco corteses, ellas también aprenden que ellos deben ser tolerados en vez de rechazados. Eliminando la diferenciación de género en la crianza de los hijos/hijas podría ayudar a combatir el abuso sexual y las violaciones.
